Is Social Media More Helpful or More Harmful for Teenagers

Social media plays an important role in the lives of most teenagers today. Many young people use platforms such as Instagram, TikTok or Snapchat every day. In my opinion, social media is more harmful than helpful for teenagers.

One major problem is that social media can have a negative impact on mental health. Teenagers often compare themselves to others and may feel insecure about their appearance or lifestyle. This can lead to stress, low self-esteem and even depression. Another disadvantage is that social media is very time-consuming. Many students spend hours online instead of focusing on schoolwork, hobbies or real-life friendships.

However, social media can also have positive aspects, such as staying in contact with friends and sharing information. Nevertheless, I believe that the disadvantages clearly outweigh the advantages, especially for young people.
